

Book Endorsement for *Knowing Our Future

How delightful it is to read a book about the science and art of long-term prediction which has been so well researched and described in such an entertaining and provocative way. The book also offers sound advice on how we should now look forward into the remainder of this century, having learned from the successes and failures of our predecessors in the futures game.– Clem Sunter, South Africa's top futurist and business thinker and author of The Mind of a Fox: Scenario Planning in Action.
